

Litigating Issues of PFAS 'Forever Chemicals' and Related Science and Standards

Thursday, April 30

1 p.m. Live Interactive Webinar

1.0 Hour CLE Credit

Registrants will receive a copy of Exposure: Poisoned Water, Corporate Greed, and One Lawyer's Twenty-Year Battle against DuPont, a $28 value! Books will be mailed to registrants later this spring.

Program:

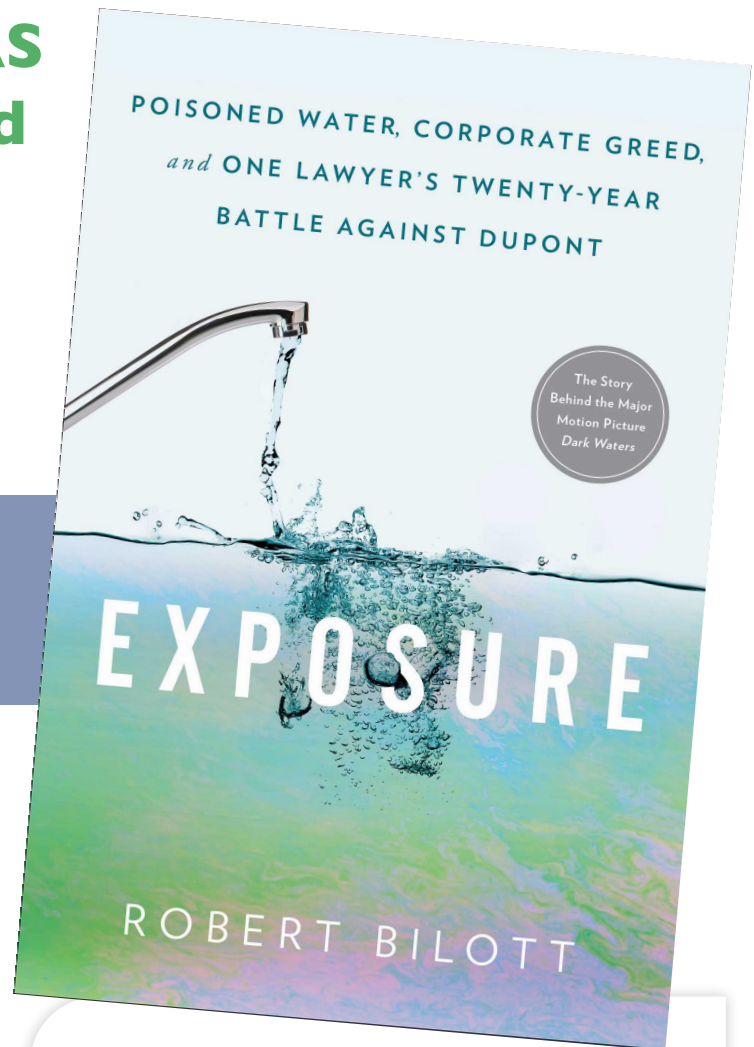

Robert Bilott, Esq. has been involved in lawsuits against DuPont and other large chemical manufacturers throughout the country including litigation involving PFAS contamination in the Mid-Ohio Valley. He will discuss the challenges facing lawyers dealing with "emerging" or "unregulated" contaminants by explaining the history and lessons learned through these cases.

About Robert Bilott, Esq.:

Bilott is a partner in Taft's Environmental, Litigation, and Product Liability and Personal Injury groups. For more than 29 years, he has handled a wide variety of highly complex environmental matters and related toxic tort litigation for a diverse array of clients, including the nation's first cases involving PFAS drinking water contamination. To date, he has secured benefits in excess of $1 Billion for clients impacted by PFAS contamination, including through key leadership positions in the nation's first class action, personal injury, medical monitoring, and multi-district litigations and trials. In 2017, Bilott received the international Right Livelihood Award, also known as the "Alternative Nobel Prize," for his decades of work on PFAS issues. He is the author of the book, Exposure: Poisoned Water, Corporate Greed, and One Lawyer's Twenty-Year Battle against DuPont, and his story is the inspiration for the new motion picture, Dark Waters from Participant Media and Focus Features, starring Mark Ruffalo. His story is also featured in the documentary available on Netflix, The Devil We Know. Bilott is a graduate of New College in Sarasota, Florida and has a Juris Doctor degree from the Ohio State University Moritz College of Law.
